

Where Do I Belong?

Look at a selection of family photographs and discuss the changes over time. Show your child a photograph of themselves as a baby, a 1-year-old, a 2-year-old. What could they do at that age? What can they do now that they couldn't do then? Look at a picture of a family member as a baby (this could be parents, siblings). Discuss how everyone was a baby once. Are there any black and white photographs? Why are these photographs black and white? Do they show older family members when they were younger?

Have a family picnic – lay out a blanket in the living room or garden (if you are brave!) Can your child make sure everyone has a plate, fork, spoon, cup? How many do they need all together? Give your child a selection of food and ask them to share it fairly between everyone?

Do a picture survey of the people in your house? How many family members have blonde/brown/black/red hair? How many have blue/brown/green eyes? Can you record this with pictures?

Make a birthday card for the next family birthday – how old are they going to be? Can your child write the numerals to show the correct age? Write a message inside for your family member and sign it with your name.

Lay the table for your family for dinner – how many people are there? How many knives, forks, cups and plates do you need? Write out name cards for everyone in your family to show them where to sit. Write a menu to let them know what is for dinner that night. Role play as a waiter/waitress. What would everyone like in their sandwiches for lunch? What drinks would everyone like to have with their dinner?

Sort out the clean clothes – who do they belong to? Can your child deliver them to the right place in the house? Pair up the socks. Can they match the patterns/colours? Can they count in twos to work out how many there are all together? Peg clothes on the airer.

Play a game together – maybe a family board game. Talk about taking it in turns and playing fairly. Dice games will support your child's number recognition.
